

Assignment 10. Nouns and Pronouns

Directions: Please edit and revise the passages below, making sure to provide specific warrants for your revision suggestions.

Passage 1

As the quarterly report reveals, Usability Team 42 agree that the variable model is effective, yet the complexity of the variables assure that the final study will be delayed in meeting their milestones.

Passage 2

The motion pictures industry often appears to romanticize the role of the writer in culture. A film such as Julia, for instance, reveals many of the basis for writers to be taken as romantic rather than pragmatic.

Passage 3

ElliotMediass financial records, as the Lloyds of London audit reveals, place the risk squarely on the management representatives, not on the technical units of the firm.

Passage 4

Everyone in Usability Team 42 should complete their report by the milestone deadline. Fran's milestones, set by Adjoa, are central to the success of his project. Whether he agreed with her or not, the participants simply must meet deadlines.

Passage 5

Neither the usability specialists nor the statistician have asked for additional time on their project. Indeed, the usability specialists and the statistician request that his time be established according to existing milestones.

Passage 6

Full-scale usability program evaluation of Usability Team 42 requires an examination of all agency operations to determine how well it is achieving its goals.

Passage 7

The statistician that came from Sri Lanka had command of regression analysis techniques. Such techniques, the nature of whom we have spoken about for some time, are increasingly needed for the many types of usability analysis in Team 42. Regardless of the clients to who we address our reports, statistical evidence will increasingly be needed for them.

Passage 8

The usability specialist who looks soulfully at the ceiling to indicate the more spiritual moments of analysis is simply a comic figure, a keyboard specialist who throws his hands into the air to indicate a daredevil recklessness and then proceeds to manhandle the mouse.